

Glory to the Empire!

The All-Powerful Military Faction from Greed Corp and the Mistbound Universe Revealed

AMSTERDAM, NETHERLANDS – November 20, 2009 – Relentless, organized and maintaining balance in the world by force! They are the Empire, the unchallenged military power in W!Games innovative turn-based strategy game Greed Corp, releasing on PlayStation®Network, Xbox LIVE® Arcade and PC in early 2010.

The largest of the four factions in terms of population in Greed Corp, the Empire is a People's Republic led by a Supreme Leader. Forging their cultural and technological advancements on the back of their military might, almost all weaponry produced in the Mistbound world comes from Empire factories. War is their business and business is good!

Constantly positioning their military muscle as the ultimate power in the Mistbound universe and vying for overall control of the limited land space, a tense and uneasy relationship exists between the Empire and the other three factions. Quietly and insidiously, they perpetuate a philosophy that all things are a part of the Empire, slowly lulling the people and their lands into their grasp. Relentlessly they march on until that objective has been achieved.

About 'Mistbound'

A beautiful world, divided by greed...

A rich fictional world created as an original Intellectual Property (IP) and a platform for the W!Games' multi-format downloadable games and other media, Mistbound serves as the setting for a variety of cautionary tales on a once-beautiful world formerly rich in resources now on the brink of collapse. Despite automated industry bringing great material wealth, relentless harvesting and mining has forever altered the world and its inhabitants. Greed Corp is the first in a series of games situated in this universe. Inspired by the industrial revolutions of the 19th century and its subsequent destructive effects on the environment, the last unspoiled lands are at stake in new conflicts between four factions, while the stripped and barren earth around them slowly succumbs to a thick mist that creeps ever closer...
